France Would Link Democratic Nations To Combat Fascism

Paris Striving to Forge Bloc Including Britain, Belgium, U. S. to Offset Italo-German-Jap Pacts

Eden Cold to Project

Delbos to Bare Rumored 3-Power 'Virtual' Accord Promising Mutual Aid; Blum Cabinet Threatened

PARIS, Nov. 30 (AP)—France strove today to forge a militant bloc of "democratic nations" to offset the alignment of Germany, Italy, and Japan.

Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos, who already has said informally, "if Britain is ready to aid us in the case of unprovoked aggression, we are ready to help them in the same circumstances," was described as ready to repeat his promise in the Chamber of Deputies Friday.

To Promote Security

Informed sources said that under the French plan, Great Britain and France would pledge themselves to assure each other's security, extending the same guarantee to Belgium and inviting the United States to demonstrate its solidarity with such a "democratic bloc."

The government was represented as determined to show the world that France will not stand idle "while German diplomats forge a chain from Europe to Asia."

In London, however, Foreign Minister Anthony Eden dampened French hopes of a tri-power military accord.

"His Majesty's Government," the youthful foreign minister told the House of Commons, definitely deprecated any tendency to divide the world into conflicting camps."

Will Retain Assurance

Delbos will return last week's assurance from British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that the two nations will come to each other's assistance if attacked by another nation, it was said.

The projected accord was interpreted in some quarters as signalling a new Western European pact.

The British declaration was made last Friday when Foreign Secretary Eden spoke at a luncheon in honor of Premier Paul van Zeeland of Belgium.

Close alliance between British and French military officials began last spring when general staffs of the two nations discussed mutual problems after German troops reoccupied the Rhineland.

Crisis Looms in Paris

PARIS, Nov. 30 (AP)—Continued Communist attacks against the government precipitated a crisis today within France's ruling Popular Front and threatened the life of the cabinet.

Chamber of Deputies observers said both Socialist and Radical Socialist deputies were determined to call for a showdown on the issue of an open declaration from Maurice Thorez, Communist secretary-general, that the party might withdraw its support from Socialist Premier Leon Blum.

May Popular Front leaders were described as convinced the government could not continue to hold together with one of its supporting factions fighting the Spanish neutrality and other policies.

Soviets Attack Fascism

MOSCOW, Nov. 30 (AP)—Russia relies on "nobody but ourselves and our own strength," says Vyacheslaff Molotoff, president of the council of commissars.

Speaking at the climax of a session of heated attacks on Nazi Germany and Fascism at the eighth All-Union Congress of Soviets yesterday, Molotoff declared:

"We cannot have a common language with Fascism whose dangers we neither exaggerate nor underestimate."

If "aggressors" withdraw from the League of Nations, he added, "we think the league will probably be made still more effective."

Japan Takes Steps

TOKYO, Nov. 30 (AP)—As the first step in enforcement of Germano-Japanese accord against communism, Foreign Minister Hirotaku Hayashi will instruct officials to exterminate "all communistic elements in Japan."

The existence of even one or two communists in any locality must not be left unnoticed. They must be exterminated immediately, he said in a statement.

Quake Felt in California

Boy Burned to Death

WEST CHESTER, Nov. 30 (AP)—Martin Burton, 8, Negro, burned to death in a fire at his home.

50 Properties To Be Sold For Taxes Dec. 16

Sheriff's Sale to Wind Up 350 Seizures; Sale Of 100 More in January

Fifty additional properties have been posted for sale for delinquent city taxes. The sale will be held Dec. 16, by Sheriff Harry C. Clark in the City Building.

Disposal of these properties, will tick off the total of parcels sold to satisfy city taxes to about 350. The 50 properties posted today for sale are exclusive of the more than 300 delinquent on the city tax records.

The city solicitor's office announced today that the policy of buying in all properties where the bids from private individuals do not cover the tax claims, will be followed at this sale. The city has did in most of the properties placed on the block so far.

In Various Parts of City

The properties to be sold Dec. 16 are from various sections of the city. Only unimproved properties are listed.

Disposal of the properties through this medium is in line with Mayor Walter W. Bacon's declaration to enforce a more economic and business-like administration of municipal affairs. It is the plan of the administration to have the delinquent tax records cleared entirely before the sales are concluded.

Since the tax sales were adopted as a means of collecting delinquent taxes, many of the property owners have arranged to pay off the delinquencies in installments.

Sewer Liens Against Many

The majority of the properties against which judgements are being secured also have sewer liens against them. These must be satisfied before the owner gets clear title.

The city solicitor's office announced today that arrangements are being made to sell an additional 100 properties late next month. The private owners or those properties can arrange to pay off the claims and installment, where the properties have not been sold as in cases where the sheriff has disposed of the parcels, pay off the tax claims plus the costs of the sale.

The city does not secure a clear title for a one year period, during which any property owner can reclaim his property by paying all of the costs and claims. Taxes including the 1935 assessment must be paid by July 1937 on all properties to escape sale. It was announced.

80!

Carl Henry Jones, Negro, 23 years old, of 914 Walnut Street, who died Saturday night as a result of injuries received in an accident ending a chase from the Claymont bridge to the Brandywine River, brought the total of motor accident fatalities in Delaware this year up to 80. There were 62 killed in the corresponding period of last year.

The Delaware Safety Council furnished the following comparative statistics on auto deaths for this year and the corresponding period last year: Delaware, 80 this year, 62 last year; Wilmington, 21 this year, 10 last year; Delaware outside of Wilmington, 59 this year, 52 last year; New Castle County, 50 this year, 35 last year; Kent, seven this year, 18 last year; Sussex, 23 this year, nine last year.

Rebels Bomb Madrid Twice As Reds Jeer

Failure to Attack Center Of City Seen by Leftists As Indication of Increasing Weakness of Insurgents

MADRID, Nov. 30 (AP)—Insurgent planes raided the capital twice today, bombing government lines in the University section and along the Manzanares River.

The Fascist birdmen then wheeled back to their bases without attempting to bomb the center of the city.

The failure to take advantage of "perfect bombing weather" to attack the heart of the city dazed political military circles. The government pointed to the maneuver as the latest indication that the back of the insurgent attack on Madrid had been broken.

Socialists jeered the insurgent commander Francisco Franco, saying:

"A general who hesitates is lost."

First Raid at Midnight

The first insurgent air raid, shortly after midnight, loosed high explosive bombs around the Puerto de Rosales.

Returning in mid-morning, the bombers eluded a squadron of government pursuit planes guarding the capital and dropped ten projectiles mainly along the University and Casa de Campo environments.

Informed military circles attributed the failure to bomb the city proper to lack of gasoline and the fear of Franco's "mercenary pilots" to risk battle with the government's "new determined aviators."

A general feeling of optimism was felt throughout the capital. Informed circles said that the government was considering turning the defense into an attack and ending the city's agony at once.

Foreign Troops Advance

Slight advances of the international brigade in the University area in the northwestern part of the city and of the militia in the Casa de Campo, coupled with Franco's failure to carry out his alleged threat to bomb the center of Madrid, bolstered the defenders' spirits.

Signs of demoralization spreading through the Fascist ranks, officials said, were evident from the aspect of prisoners recently captured.

Many of the prisoners, government sources said, even was running the risk of facing support from Italy and Germany, whose prestige was involved in the speedy capture of Madrid.

Failure of the Fascists to break through the government defense lines might well cause Italy and Germany to withdraw their active help, these persons theorized.

Rebels Capture Village

Stirred by reports of insurgent shock troops, attempting to break through government lines on the El Escorial road, a detachment marched to the village of Prontezo de Alarcon today.

Supported by tanks and planes, insurgent commanders hurled wave after wave of troops against Fascist concentrations in the new battle around seven miles west of the capital.

He was N. G. Van Sant, a cavalry trooper in Tennessee in 1864 and a Sterling Army member in 1918 whose one regret is that the Spanish War didn't last long enough for him to take part.

Roper Reports Boom in Sales Of Costly Gifts

Nation Spending Most Since 1929, He Asserts; Sees 15 Pct. Trade Gain

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Secretary Roper said today that reports in from all sections "clearly show that people are buying this Christmas more expensive types of gifts than they have since 1929."

At the same time, Roper made the first comment from an administration official in support of high dividend declarations. He said "the unprecedented distribution of corporation funds through bonuses and extra dividends is a most stimulating thing" in the Christmas buying surge.

"Progress reports" on Christmas business, the secretary said, support predictions of experts that department store sales this season will be at least 15 per cent greater than in 1935, will closely approach the volume attained in the 1929 season.

People More Prosperous

"Our people are more prosperous throughout the country than at any time since 1929," he said. "A much more prosperous condition now than then is the cause for the last seven years," he continued.

"The general uptrend of business, more widespread employment and higher wages and salaries for farmers have been major factors in stimulating this holiday trade to the highest levels in several years."

Analyzing reports from trade centers, a Commerce Department summary said that "there have been very definite indications in the last few weeks that New Yorkers are no longer 'penny pinching' and that money is increasing amounts is being spent on goods otherwise than necessities."

More Luxuries Purchased

The "unexpected money" pumped out in extra dividends in New York it was said, "is finding its way into purchases of fur coats, jewelry, furniture, and automobiles."

In Chicago, the summary continued, trade is "good throughout," with "perhaps a much more prosperous condition now than then is the cause for the last seven years," he continued.

Man Is Badly Hurt in Battle With Officer

Frank O'Connell Suffers Possible Skull Fracture; Officer Slightly Bruised; Case Continued in Court

Frank O'Connell, 42 years old, 713 Jefferson Street, was treated in the Delaware Hospital for a possible fracture of the skull, the aftermath of an altercation with Patrolman Earl Egner early this morning.

The officer had gone to O'Connell's home about 2:30 o'clock with a warrant for his arrest, on a breach of the peace charge, preferred by his wife, Bernice O'Connell.

O'Connell is said to have been in bed at the time and the officer entered the house to serve the warrant on him. O'Connell then dressed and engaged in a slight scuffle with the officer before leaving the house, it is said.

Both Fell to Ground

He was finally subdued and they continued on their way to Seventh and Tatnall Streets where the officer was going to call for the patrol wagon.

As they reached Eighth and Washington Streets, O'Connell is said to have kicked Egner and grabbed him by the throat. They continued to tussle and finally both fell to the ground, with O'Connell falling on the officer.

While on the ground O'Connell continued to beat the officer, it is said but finally Egner was able to reach in his back pocket and secure his blackjack. He struck O'Connell several stunning blows on the head and finally subdued him.

Egner and O'Connell then went to Seventh and Tatnall Streets where the officer called the patrol wagon. O'Connell was then taken to the Delaware Hospital where he received 13 stitches in his head.

Officer Slightly Hurt

He was later returned to the police station where he was booked on a charge of assault and battery on the officer and the breach of the peace charge.

The officer suffered only a few slight bruises and lacerations about the body and head.

At 4 p. m. O'Connell was taken from his cell at the police station to the hospital again for X-rays to determine whether his skull was fractured.

This morning Judge John P. Lynn in Municipal Court continued the case until Wednesday and set bail at $500.

'Shrinking Man', 52, Gains 15 Pounds in Comeback

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 30 (AP)—The "shrinking man" of Minneapolis—62-year-old Hans Nelson—cheerfully pointed to a 15-pound gain in weight as evidence today that he was making a comeback.

The shrunken painter, victim of the rare disease, acromegalia, had dwindled in stature from 5 feet 10 inches to 5 feet and in weight from 190 pounds to 140 in 13 years.

But corrective dieting and injections of calcium at the University of Minnesota Hospital have enabled him to throw off that "tired feeling" he said, and resume normal human pursuits.

"I have gained 15 pounds; last summer I drove my car several thousand miles and I can point around the garage," said Nelson. "Those wonderful doctors have helped me. Maybe I will be able to work again."

University of Minnesota medical authorities were not so sanguine. Nelson is gaining strength but the shrinkage has not been definitely checked. They said he suffered two relapses during his year of treatment and had been ridden for several months.

Acromegalia is a condition in which bone lashes due to lack of calcium, attending physicians said. It may be due to a tumor of the pituitary gland. Occasionally the gland becomes over-accelerated so that calcium is passed off too rapidly to be assimilated by the bones.

Thousands Cheer F. R. In Buenos Aires as He Lands for Peace Parley

President's Buenos Aires 'Home'

Argentine Capital Goes Wild as U. S. Chief Executive's Cruiser Drops Anchor at Dock

Officials From 21 Nations Greet Him

President to Open Big Conference Tomorrow; Hopes to Cement Bonds Of American Friendship

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt, acclaimed by hundreds of thousands, reached here early this afternoon for the opening tomorrow night of the 21-nation peace conference which grew out of his initiative.

The cruiser Indianapolis, which carried the President on his 12-day trip from Charleston, S. C., docked amid the cheers of a huge throng on shore and the shrieks of whistles on hundreds of vessels in Buenos Aires harbor.

Son First Ashore

The Indianapolis reached the dock-bedecked dock at 1:34 p. m. (11:34 a. m. E. S. T.).

James Roosevelt, the President's son, was the first ashore. He shook hands with Argentine President Augustin P. Justo and others in the reception group.

President Roosevelt disembarked at 1:58 p. m. He was greeted at the pier by President Justo, United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Argentine Foreign Minister Carlos Saavedra Lamas, Cardinal Santiago Copello, and other notables.

Just Welcomed Him

Before Mr. Roosevelt left the Indianapolis, the cruiser's band played the Argentine anthem and then the "Star Spangled Banner," in which the Argentine band ashore joined.

The United States President descended the gangplank holding the arm of James Roosevelt, who had re-boarded the vessel.

President Roosevelt got into a car at the foot of the gangplank after greeting President Justo, to whom he was introduced by United States Ambassador Alexander W. Weddell.

Then the two executives drove off together along the 30-block route to the United States Embassy. Mr. Roosevelt's residence during his stay.

Makes Address Tomorrow

President Roosevelt is to make the opening address when the Inter-American Peace parley, proposed by him last winter, gets under way at 5 p. m. tomorrow (3 p. m. Eastern Standard Time).

Argentine warships and a river launch escorted the Indianapolis up the Rio Plata to the quay, while Argentine planes circled and zipped overhead.

Near the dock—along which a red carpet had been laid—a mile long float been dedi—were the six-foot-tall horse grenadiers of Argentina's liberator, Gen. Jose de San Martin, in blue uniforms with white epaulettes.

The flank of the 11-car motorcade in the embassy was lined with mounted Argentine gendarmes, who scurried to their places when the Indianapolis was sighted, ahead of schedule, coming up the muddy Rio Plata.

Police Restrain Crowd

Mounted and unmounted police restrained the crowd in the Plaza Hussania, the dock area.

Within a few hundred yards of the United States embassy, Mr. Roosevelt was to swing aside the monument to the Spanish colonizers of Argentina, in the center of the great square in beautiful Palermo Park.

There that memorial a great altar, surmounted by a cross, was built for the 1934 International Eucharistic Congress.

From the monument, the car turned into the embassy, where rooms have been set aside for President Roosevelt and his aides.

Situated In Park

The building is situated in a private park of 44 acres (about 176 feet). With its carefully cultivated grass, hedges, and rosebushes, in their early autumn freshness, it is an ideal place for the President to work.

The San Martin grenadiers, who accompanied the automobile procession to the embassy, were selected on strict well-groomed steeds. They were the only troops to have used since San Martin, hero of the Argentine struggle for independence started in 1810, a mounted regiment and administered a crushing defeat to Spain in the battle of San Lorenzo in 1813.

The two presidents, Roosevelt and Justo, were assisted to the same motor car. Hull was placed with Saavedra Lamas, Welles with Minister of Marine Capt. Eleazar Videla.

James Roosevelt, in his marine lieutenant-colonel's uniform, was assigned to a car with Gen. Juan Reynolds, of the Argentine army.

1,500 Pension Forms Sent In By Employes

Typists at Work Filling Out Cards; Rush Is Due Before Deadline Saturday

Completed employe forms for identification cards for the old age benefit section of the Social Security Act are arriving slowly at the post-office, Postmaster James J. Cahill said today.

Of about 1,500 of the 31,000 estimated eligible employes in Delaware have returned application forms.

Postal employes expect a rush within the next few days.

Those who have mailed back the blanks containing information required for the most part are individual employes or employes in firms with only two to five employes.

Employers of larger numbers of persons here are expected to send in hundreds of the cards within the next two or three days. The forms are due Saturday.

Eight Typists at Work

Eight typists were working in the sorting room of the new postoffice building today filling out the cards to be sent to employes, using the filled out application cards for information. An increase in the number of typists is expected when the rush comes later in the week.

Joseph O. Hedlicka, secretary to the postmaster, warned that the most frequent errors is the place of birth.

Many Omit Name Of State

It is necessary to give the town or city, county, and state. Many are giving only the county and a few only the state, he said. If the town or county is unknown, the word should be marked "unknown," he added.

Many employes give their mother's married name in filling out the application cards, he said. The mother's full maiden name, and all name before marriage, should be given, he warned. Many employes give only an initial for their middle name, he said, adding that the first and middle names, should be written out in full.

Dr. Buttrick Lists Loyalty As Vital Need

Pastor of Church in N. Y. Opens Preaching Mission With Luncheon Address

The basic issue of the world is to know how best we can preserve an individual right and at the same time honor the corporate bond, the Rev. Dr. George A. Buttrick, pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York, said at a luncheon of churchmen in the Hotel DuPont today.

The preaching mission is a national movement to renew the strength of Christianity through preaching the brotherhood of man. It is in a sense, a rebirth of Protestantism.

"It is one world," Dr. Buttrick declared at the luncheon opening the Wilmington preaching mission here, "and the answer is above them. It is the nature of Jesus Christ."

Repeating "Cross cross, cross cross, we all cut one another's throats through the beat of motives," he declared that men have only loyalty to God, which would gather the other little loyalties under its wing.

Loyalty Emphasized

The quotation is from Galsworthy's play, "Loyalties."

Unless we can make ourselves loyal to one will, our world is completely sounder and may slip down an abyss into an eternal dark age, he added.

The preaching mission, he said, "holds not any idea, not any economic nostrum, not a plea for this or that group, not antagonistic to any group, but just preaching message that has gone around the country asking that all motive be made subservient to the will of God."

Extremes of individual liberty, which he described as "the cancers of liberty," or the extreme of a totalitarian state are neither an answer to the problem of individual and corporate bond, he said.

Independence Traced

Dr. Buttrick traced the independency of people, industry and governments in the modern world.

"Oceans have no power to subdue a church," he declared in pointing out this complexity of modern life.

"Christianity is the only organizing all men together," he continued, and it is through adoption of the truth that we must solve our problems, all of which are but variants from the fundamental problem of individual rights, and the rights of a nation or world.

"We would be blind to the facts and insincere if we believed our own forms of government always honored the fact all men are one organism," Dr. Buttrick stated, pointing out one-fourth the people of the United States "is in an anxiety worse than insecurity through unemployment, poverty, or hunger.

Dishonest Practices Scored

"We must quit defeating our order and begin mending it. Then we shall not need to defend it."

Dr. Buttrick scored dishonest moral practices in the world of business and society today.

He urged subscriptions to a growing parts of Christianity "rising above the little loyalties of being a German, Frenchman, trade unionist,
